

LARGEST IN THE CITY.

Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" free any more than a merchant can toss over his counter free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

The Continued Calls

upon THE LEDGER for free notices have become so burdensome that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Suppers, excursions, fairs, or other public entertainments where a fee is charged, and for obituary notices, resolutions of respect, etc., THE LEDGER will charge FIVE CENTS A LINE, and hereafter this will be the invariable rule. This, however, notices of Lodge meetings or Church services, which must not exceed ten lines.

Does Not Include

Avoidance of Disputes.

Misunderstandings are unpleasant. The rate for Business Local in THE LEDGER is 10 cents a line for the first insertion and 5 cents a line for subsequent insertions. A customer orders a five-line local inserted in the paper. "I'll tell you when to take it out," he says to the bookkeeper. But he forgets all about it. The notice runs for two months—62 times—the bill is $12.50. When he finds it out, there is a "kick" and a controversy, followed probably by an icy feeling. Now, to obviate this trouble, no "till further notice" will be accepted hereafter. Let's have a definite agreement at the outset and the termination will be pleasant all around.

All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

Mrs. W. H. Means is visiting her father, Dr. J. T. Wall of Flemingsburg.

Mrs. John Hise and Miss Nannie Clarke have returned to their home at Cincinnati.

We'll be glad when Sunday night comes. Maybe the papers will quit talking about that total eclipse.

P. C. Henderson of Poplar Flat went into Vanceburg the other day with three hogs, ten months old, that weighed 1,000 pounds.

Mrs. C. W. Darnall was summoned to the bedside of her father, Mr. John Fleming, who resides in Fleming county, yesterday. She left on the noon train.

The K. of P. Lodge at Carlisle started out six years ago with thirteen members, and it has played in very good luck, having initiated sixty members since then, and is now in a flourishing condition.

The windstorm yesterday afternoon blew out one of the big doorglass on the Market street side of the Postoffice, breaking it into 2848763219433 very small pieces, more or less.

The work of shoring up the big house of M. C. Russell will probably begin Monday. As stated in THE LEDGER several months ago, steel girders and columns are to supplant the present wooden ones, to increase the carrying capacity of the building.

Robert D. Wilson of Vanceburg and ex-Senator E. L. Washington of Madison county are being spoken of as possible candidates to represent Mason and Lewis counties.—Lexington Press-Transcript.

Had it been the learned "Squeer" who got off the above we wouldn't thought anything about it; but the idea of THE PRESS-TRANSCRIPT being so ignorant. How could a resident and a citizen of Madison county represent Mason and Lewis in the State Senate? "There are others!"

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

Unless Black's shown—no change we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 9 o'clock to-morrow evening.

We respectfully invite the comparison of THE LEDGER with any other daily newspaper in all Northeastern Kentucky if any one can find a daily paper printed in the Ninth Congressional District that has

A Larger Circulation, or More Original Reading Matter, we will take pleasure in presenting him with a year's subscription to THE LEDGER. And this paper is furnished at same price as inferior ones.

Mr. Neel leaves Covington and goes to Natchez, Miss., to take charge of the First Presbyterian Church at that city.

A storm, which included thunder, lightning, wind, a blinding snowstorm and several other ingredients, struck this city yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. During the fury of the storm, which lasted about an hour, it grew suddenly dark and many of our citizens listened attentively to hear Gabriel blow his horn. A number of window lights in residences in the East End were blown out. No serious from the storm in the county has been reported.

A mule belonging to James Hasson and attached to a dray loaded with furniture was standing in front of the residence of Mr. Sim Rosenau on Market street this morning. While the driver was in the house he concluded to take a look at the river. Down Market street he went at a breakneck gait, scattering furniture and draypins all over the street. He was stopped at the corner of Second and Market without much damage being done.

YOU'RE QUITE WRONG.

The Government Still Furnishes "Printed Envelopes."

The United States Government does not furnish printed envelopes now. The following is the new law:
"The Postmaster General shall contract for all envelopes, stamped or otherwise, designed for sale to the public or for use by his own or other Departments, and may contract for them to be plain or with such printed matter as may be prescribed by the Department making requisition therefor; provided, that no envelope furnished by the Government shall contain any business address or advertisement."

The Government has been furnishing printed envelopes at about what the blank envelopes cost, and the printer was knocked out.—Ashland Sun.

.....The "new law" above quoted is about old enough to vote, even if it had been born in America; and if it had been born in Ireland, it would already have voted for several Presidents. It will be noticed that the law itself says these envelopes may have "such printed matter," etc. For the purpose of popularizing stamped envelopes, the Government originally printed a person's business card on the corner without extra charge. Of late years, however, the card has contained the simple request to return to the individual or firm, without coupling the "business" with it. You can get all the printed envelopes you want from Uncle at $23 per thousand for the regular commercial size.

Elijah, James and Joshua Rees. The funeral will take place from her late residence at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

George Luman, a brother of John Luman the affable Conductor of the Electric Railway, was bitten by a vicious dog, belonging to John Bateman, yesterday. The dog had not gone mad, but John wasn't going to take chances on him so doing. He laid off for a half day, and with a shotgun laid for the cur and now there is one dog less on which to pay taxes.

AUTHOR OF "A MODERN HEATHEN."

The Famous Southern Novelist, Mrs. E. Burke Collins, Tells of Her Complete Recovery From Nervous Debility by the Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

The London Graphic, in its recent summing up of the half dozen successful novels of the year, includes with Du Maurier's "Tribby," Hall Caine's "Manxman," Conan Doyle's "Sherlock Holmes," "The Heavenly Twins" and "Ships That Pass in the Night," Mrs. E. Burke Collins's "A Modern Heathen."

Speaking of this last work of our distinguished Southern author, The Graphic says: "What George W. Cable's writings are to the Creoles of New Orleans, Miss Murfree to the rough strata of humanity among the Tennessee Mountains and Gertrude Atherton to California, Mrs. E. Burke Collins's are to the Acadians of the Louisiana Pine Lands. In her latest work Mrs. Collins has struck a new vein in literature, opening to the novel reader a world a vision of the real life of the Acadians of the backwoods, among the wild, scarcely known regions of the bayous and swamps of Louisiana."

Besides her novels she contributes each week short stories, sketches, etc., to the prominent magazines and to a great variety of other publications. Although her writing has always been a labor of love, yet such incessant mental exertion, constantly harvesting the ideas of her brain without a single idle season or fallow time for rest and refreshment, could not fail to have its effect on the recuperative power of her nervous system. At one time she found herself tired out and weak from such uninterrupted work; she became nervous and incapable of work; she even saw nervous prostration staring her in the face. The general toning up that her system needed so badly she found in Paine's Celery Compound. Today she is perfectly well and strong again, busy as ever with her brain and pen, and grateful to Paine's Celery Compound for the timely help when failure and trouble and despair seemed about to close round her and shut her off from everything that was dear to her. She says:

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Nov. 21st, 1894.

I wish to add my mite to the thousands of testimonials which you have received in regard to the efficacy of this wonderful compound. In my profession of author, such a strengthening medicine is invaluable. I have just completed my 95th novel, and constant work at the desk had weakened my constitution, injured my nerves, and I suffered from general debility. When a person in that condition writes continually, living in the realm of fiction and romance, the effect upon the nervous system is lamentable. I was weak and debilitated, suffered from insomnia, and was irritable and nervous. Four bottles of Paine's Celery Compound gave me strength, quieted my nerves, and brought sleep to my pillow. I owe lasting gratitude to this wonderful medicine, and I take pleasure in adding mine to the long list of testimonials. Yours gratefully, MRS. E. BURKE COLLINS.

313 Valence street.

Paine's Celery Compound is found to best supply the great need of studious, sedentary people. Its extensive use by brain workers, both men and women, suffering from sleeplessness, indigestion, or other effects of a deficient nerve force, shows its ability to feed tired, emaciated, nervous tissues. Nothing else has ever possessed anything like the power of Paine's Celery Compound to restore a healthy nervous tone to the entire body and to thoroughly cleanse the blood. Schoolteachers, professional men, newspaper men, ministers, public officials, men whose daily outlay of vitality, because of hard, trying, anxious work, is excessive, find renewed strength, not only of the nerves, but, through their healthy action, of the entire body, in Paine's Celery Compound. Its use shortly dispels headaches, rheumatic pain, dyspepsia, heart trouble, general debility and languor, and all other outward signs of the grave mischief that comes from disordered nerves and impure blood.

HE FURNISHED BAIL.
Lewis Sartin, the youthful imp of satan who wantonly placed an obstruction on the C. and O. track, is at liberty. At liberty to concoct more hellish designs and then carry them into execution. Three hundred dollars, the amount in which he was held, was readily furnished by friends in cash. The crime to which young Sartin plead guilty should be unobtainable. Though young in years, his record proves him to be a dangerous criminal. There is no punishment too severe to be inflicted upon a fiend who endangers the lives of hundreds of innocent people for the mere fun of the thing. Portsmouth is talking about building another hotel.

Lexington capitalists will erect a fraternal building at an early day. Kentucky, it is said, pays a higher average rate of fire insurance than any state East of the Mississippi.

The City Council of Richmond has decided to defer the erection of the $10,000 graded school for the colored contingent of the city until next year's levy is made.

The charge that many of Reformer Lady Henry Somerset's London houses are occupied by disreputable people has created a buzz of excitement in certain circles and may be investigated.

It cost about $180 to have Napoleon Bonaparte Shackleford, the eminent hog thief extradited by the Ohio authorities and returned to this county. Hog thieves come high, but we must have 'em.

Joseph Gorton, Jr., the euphonium soloist of Gorton's Minstrels, can be heard in one of his solos at every open air concert given by Gorton's Gold Band. In case the train arrives on time, and it generally does, the concert will take place at 12 o'clock. The uniformed parade follows at 12:30 Wednesday, March 13th.

THE SUNDAY LAW.

How Judge Thompson of Louisville Has Decided On It.

Judge R. H. Thompson, a just Judge and Christian gentleman of Louisville, has been wrestling with the Sunday Closing Law.

He says the law is constitutional.

He says saloon-keepers must keep their places closed on the Sabbath.

He says transfer, telegraph and telephone companies, hackmen, restaurants, livery stables, confectioners, milk dealers, newspapers, newsboys, druggists and barbers may all carry on business Sundays, because they are works of necessity.

As to beer gardens, public resorts, fruit stands, groceries and butcher shops, Judge Thompson decided not to pass on these, reserving his decision pending proof on the question of necessity.

They will be heard next Thursday afternoon.
